COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA
Office of the Governor

Timothy M. Kaine
Governor

August 5, 2007

Dear Friends:

On behalf of the Commonwealth of Virginia, I am pleased to extend warm greetings to everyone attending the National Council of State Directors of Community Colleges 2007 Summer Conference in Williamsburg.

We are proud to host you this summer and I commend Virginia Chancellor Glenn DuBois and the Virginia Community College System staff for their hard work to make this event such a great success. The Commonwealth is proud to be home to an outstanding system of community colleges that serve every region of Virginia and who are committed to providing quality higher education to Virginia's students.

Community Colleges are a large and important part of Virginia's system of higher education as they are around the nation. Community Colleges not only provide excellent educational opportunities, they are also exceptional stewards of their communities. By responding to regional needs in areas such as workforce training and economic growth, these institutions provide financial support and academic opportunities that make a positive impact on the lives of countless citizens across the country.

I also want to welcome those of you who have traveled great distances to be here. While you are visiting the Colonial Williamsburg area, I hope you take the time to experience some of Virginia's rich history and natural beauty. Williamsburg's location at the heart of the Colonial Capital Region puts many of Virginia's historic and natural resources within easy reach. Whether by taking part in the many 400th Anniversary related events, visiting the historic sites, or by enjoying the many fine shops and restaurants in the region, you are sure to enjoy the history and unique hospitality of the Old Dominion.

Thank you all for your dedication to these students and good luck for a successful conference.

Sincerely,
